IMPROVING MARKETS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

With reason or without, the business interests of the country were nearly united in regarding an extra session of Congress at this time with apprehension. At the beginning of the past week, there was a general belief that an extra session would be called. As the markets are usually over-hasty in trying to discount any future event, the tendency to depression in business was general. Toward the close of the week it became known in this city that the probabilities had changed, with the opinions of several of the President's advisers. Some improvement in tone was at once perceptible, which the official declaration of the President's decision is likely to confirm. The different markets may then be expected to adjust themselves, each to its proper and natural conditions, being free at last, for a time, from the legislative and political influences which have so long continued to disturb them. Before long, however, the preparations of the Treasury for the payment of bonds about to mature will begin to have a powerful influence upon the markets, and that influence should be decidedly favorable unless the plans adopted should be unexpectedly unwise.

The most powerful of immediate influences is the rapid movement of specie from Europe. The effect, as yet, is mainly negative; the stringency in money has been prevented, which many expected at the close of this month. But the larger effect will be felt when the April payments are made, and the money thus employed flows back again to commercial centres. The imports of gold last week, moreover, though $3,149,888 in amount, have not yet been felt in the bank balances, much less in the bank statement. The payments by the Assay Office amounted to only $633,377, and this is about the sum which arrived on Saturday, the 19th, but was not included in the report of that week. The imported gold which arrived on Wednesday and Friday will go into the banks early this week. The imports last week were much the largest of the year thus far, and make the aggregate at this port $10,047,044 in gold, (besides about $700,000 in silver), against only $1,106,471 in gold to the same date last year. The exports of gold have been only $118,210, against $1,035,333 to date last year. At least $1,500,000 more gold, now on its way, should arrive before the end of the month, and considerable shipments are reported to arrive early in April.

All fear of stringency in money is over. Though the banks reported a loss of $1,383,100 in specie, and a surplus reserve of only $1,706,775, it is well known that the gold already here will more than meet all further demands for the April settlements. Indeed, as was anticipated some weeks ago, those demands have proved smaller this year than ever before, not because the payments to be made are small, but because the supply of money in other parts of the country is large beyond all precedent. Since the 12th of February, the week before the disturbance began, the specie held by the Treasury and the banks has increased $10,263,640, while only $8,500,000 has been received from the mint, and the decrease in legal-tenders held by the Treasury and banks has been only $2,735,884, so that the actual outflow of both kinds of money during the past six weeks has been only $1,022,244. To-day will commence the prepayment of $7,385,650 quarterly interest on the four per cents, which will return to the market more than the $2,200,000 which the Treasury has absorbed from it during the past week.

The condition of foreign trade continues to promise additional supplies of foreign gold. The moderate changes during the past week in the prices of commodities chiefly exported have been mainly such as to favor larger shipments. Wheat, corn and oats are a little lower than they were a week ago, because of the opening of the river and the release of the ice-bound grain. The foreign markets remain steady, being sustained, according to the recognized English authorities, by the unusual scarcity and high price of rye on the Continent. Cotton has not changed materially in price, but sales for export here were 7,138 bales, and the exports for the week 101,204 bales against 70,540 for the same week last year. During the past four weeks the exports of cotton have been 440,000 bales (worth over $25,300,000), against 423,000 in February. Increased export demands have also given greater strength to the market for provisions, though there had been some concession in prices. In petroleum there has been a decline since March 1 from 9¾ to 8 cents for refined, and from 85 to 77½ cents for crude certificates, and the exports, which in January were only 18,000,000 gallons against 38,000,000 in January, 1880, rose to 21,800,000 gallons during the three weeks ending March 19, against 17,600,000 gallons during the corresponding weeks last year. At this port, the value of all exports for the past four weeks has been about $3,000,000 in excess of the value for the same time last year, while the value of all merchandise imports has been $39,195,836 in 1881, against $44,045,097 in 1880. Apparently, it is with good reason that The London Economist of Saturday anticipates further shipments of gold to this country.

The severe winter which has so diminished the earnings of several prominent railroads in Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, does not yet appear to have done harm to the winter wheat crop, according to reports from 332 points in eleven Western States, collected by the Cincinnati Price-Current. The prospects are "good" according to 147 of these reports, and "fair" according to 64, leaving only 121 reports classified as "poor" or "bad." The better reports predominate, too, in the States which raise winter wheat most largely. Though the spring may be late, if it is warm and later weather favors, there are many who believe that the crop of spring wheat will be the largest ever raised. In truth, the productive capacity of the country appears to be increasing beyond all anticipation, in almost every direction. For example, the cotton crop of 1880-'81 now bids fair to exceed the highest estimate made last fall, and will probably amount to 6,100,000 bales or 3,000,000,000 pounds—about 8 per cent. more than the largest crop ever grown before. Yet the progress of settlement and cultivation in Texas and Arkansas indicates that the next crop may even larger.

Hon. A. C. Howard declines the nomination of the Rhode Island Prohibitionists for Governor.

KNOWING OUR BOUNDS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

We still receive letters of inquiry from women in every part of the country concerning their chances of earning a living in this or that occupation. They always write to know the highest income possible in each of them, and the best ways or place in which to make the attempt. But most of all they are urgent in stating their own necessities. The stories are usually pitiful enough. They have themselves or helpless children or parents or husband to support; they are willing to go to work at any honest business which will bring them in money. But there is one singular omission in the letters which explains why these, and so many other women, have failed in the attempt to support themselves. They do not state, and, it would seem, never have inquired of themselves, what business they are fitted for. Apparently they think they are fit for any. A man in going about a job of work looks to see if his tools and material are suited to that work. He does not try to make a fine bit of jewelry with an axe, nor cut down a tree with a turning lathe. But in this, the biggest job of work which can fall to the lot of any human being, the occupation by which to earn a livelihood, men, as well as women, seldom look to their tools. They do not examine their own brains, physical skill or disposition, to find out what they really can do. A woman discovers one day with a shock that she must buy her own food and clothes, and straightway goes to work writing verses or working table-covers; not because she has any peculiar fitness for poetry or crewels, but because they are popular and genteel ways of earning money.

The way before a woman who wants to earn money reputably in this country is full of difficulty; their letters and every newspaper we open are full of hints of their terrible anxiety and almost despair. One word of advice we can give to them all which will make their first step at least successful; it is to study their limitations. Find out the bounds which nature has laid down and keep inside of them. That a woman sees her hungry children about her, and is educated and thoughtful, is not enough to make her a popular writer. The very realities of life which she has had to face, grim and sad; the hard, monotonous line of reflection in which her brain has moved so heavily and long, may have gone far to destroy the light thoughts, the foolish, airy fancies which publishers and public want and will pay for. She reads stories which she justly calls "trashy" in the magazines with famous names attached, and hopeful y sends her own MS.; "she has more sense than is shown there." But the MS. comes back with thanks. The fact is she probably has too much practical sense to write stories at all. She has precisely the energy, shrewdness and tact which would enable her to succeed as the keeper of a dry-goods or grocer's shop; in France she would go directly to such work. But here she makes sad messes with heroes and villains and odes to spring, and besieges wretched publishers with them. Unfortunately, too, the occupations which women usually attempt are those which require specific and rare qualifications—creative power, imagination, capacity for prolonged and unflagging work, the artistic eye. Not one woman or man in a thousand possesses these; and not one man in a thousand tries to earn his living by them. Men go into trade—they raise wheat, flowers, pigs, poultry, they hang paper, run laundries, control manufactories of candy, bonnets, all kinds of women's gear. In many cases they are doing work, and growing rich at it, which women could do just as well. Whose fault is that? The public would be quite as well satisfied to pay women for the same service if the women would undertake it. But they will do nothing except attempt to embroider, paint, lecture and write for the magazines. Effeminate men carry on the retail trade and Chinamen the laundries; they at least know their limitations and keep within them; women do not. There is the key to the whole difficulty. Now let any woman who wishes to support herself, who reads this, decide dispassionately what kind of work she could do best, if she were a man, and then go at it regardless of what the world says. The world will not trouble itself about her. It does not care a jot whether Polly or Peter writes its books or weighs its sugar, provided book and sugar are genuine.

There are a good many other folks besides poor struggling women who would do well to examine the work they have taken up, and see if it is within the inexorable bounds which nature has laid for them in their intellects and temperament. Men with the purest motives and highest aims set about accomplishing a reform or controlling a body of other men, or they write, or preach, or practice, and break down in the prime of life with paralysis or softening of the brain, or some other nerve disease, simply because they did not examine at first the tools with which they had to work. Other men, under the influence of a passing passion or freak, marry, when they have not a single quality which fits them to be husbands or fathers. The result is miserable homes and vicious, neglected children. There are others who have chosen to be artists or lawyers when nature meant them for mechanics, or mechanics when they should have starved during their youth to gain the education which nature demanded. There are on every hand good, high-purposed men preaching to the world in the press, the pulpit and in society, when they have neither the force, the tact or the feeling to reach another soul. In short, there is hardly a roof in the world that does not cover the honest, well-intentioned man who makes a fool of himself because he does not know his own limitations.

FLORIDA ELECTION FRAUDS.

A Washington despatch to the Boston Herald says: Mr. Bisbee of Florida, who will contest the seat of J. J. Finley in the next Congress, has just received a report from an attorney sent from here to take testimony in Alachua county. Since the homicide in Madison county, Bisbee has not been able to induce any one down there to act for him, and was obliged to dispatch a man from here. Mr. Bisbee says: The result has been the discovery in one precinct of frauds of a grave character. At Oredonda, Alachua county, the judges returned Finley 104 majority. The investigation shows that on the face of the poll lists there were 306 majority for Bisbee. There are 370 who say they voted for him, leaving 64 for Finley, which is 12 more than there is ordinarily Democratic votes in the precinct. But they are all given to him because it cannot be shown that he might not have had that many. The evidence taken shows that the Democrats built two walls 16 feet from the window, leaving room for a single line of voters to pass up to the ballot box. Neither challenger nor Republican judges were allowed. At dark, under pretence of a row inside among themselves, they put out the light and threw the ballot-box across the room. It was hunted up, after a while, and carried off under the pretext that the counters must have supper before they did anything. They took the box away and fixed up the result to suit themselves. By such proceedings in Madison and Alachua counties they cut down a majority usually 1100 to about 100, and elected Finley on face of the returns by some 900 majority.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

A man who was a student in an institution where Senator Mahone was an instructor years ago said that while he was the best teacher that the school ever had, he was a tarantula. Some of those whom he castigated in the Senate recently could appreciate the application of that name to their little tormentor.

There are plenty of people in this country able and willing to give seven dollars and a half to see a Northern Democrat in Congress who has the courage of his convictions.—Atlanta Constitution (Dem).

A paper by R. W. Emerson, on his personal impressions of Thomas Carlyle, made up from his unpublished letters, written at the time of his first visit to England, will appear in Scribner for May. The publication is made by special arrangement with Mr. Emerson and the Massachusetts Historical Society, before which the paper was read, and in the minutes of which it is to be printed after its appearance in Scribner.

NEWS ITEMS.

It is stated that a prominent physician of Washington regards the use of roller skates as very injurious to growing young girls. The statement would be more convincing were the physician's name given but the matter is nevertheless worthy of consideration.

It is very unhealthy in New York at the present time owing to the filthy condition of the streets and bad drainage. Murray Hill is not exempt, and in some of the hotels there are a large number of cases of sickness. For the week ending March 5 the percentage of deaths was at the annual death rate of 30 per thousand.

"Old Abe," the famous eagle which accompanied the Eight Wisconsin Regiment through the war and was afterwards presented to the State of Wisconsin, died at the State Capitol Saturday night. "Old Abe" has traveled all over the country, and thousands of dollars have been realized from exhibiting him. His remains were visited by the Governor and all the State officials. He was once exhibited in Boston, and there is a picture of him in the Old South.

Official figures of the Russian commercial fleet, just published at St. Petersburg, show that on the first of January the White Sea port had 11 steamers and 575 sailing vessels; the Baltic ports 63 steamers and 578 sailing vessels; the Black Sea and Sea of Azof, 171 steamers and 1,064 sailing vessels; the Caspian, 36 steamers and 1004 sailing vessels; and the Pacific Ocean, 15 steamers, making in all 296 steamers and 4,121 sailing vessels. About three-fourths of the whole number are employed in the coasting trade.

Mrs. Charlotte Bruce, a dressmaker of Cincinnati, has sued John B. Gibson, a wealthy resident of that city, for $50,000 for breach of promise of marriage. According to Mrs. Bruce's statement the two became engaged in 1864, but thirteen years later Mr. Gibson desired to be released on account of opposition to the marriage by his friends, and offered to give Mrs. Bruce $50,000, to which she agreed and took his note for the amount. Subsequently Mr. Gibson professed to still retain his former passion, and asked to be taken back as a lover. They were then re-engaged to be married, and soon after Mrs. Bruce gave up the $50,000 note at his request. He then deserted her and afterward married Mrs. Reakert, a wealthy lady.

THE NORTHAMPTON BANK ROBBERY.

Another and perhaps the last installment of the plundered bank property has been brought from New York and is now safely lodged in the vaults of the old bank, much to the satisfaction of the bank officials and private depositors, most of whom didn't care what became of the robbers if they recovered their property. The securities were brought to Northampton in two large valises at different times and by different officers. The papers are generally in good condition, though a part are quite musty and damp, and the ink has spread on a few, indicating that they have been buried in an earthen vessel most of the time during the past five years. An examination of the documents shows half a million dollars worth of certificates and other property more than was thought had been taken, which is accounted for mainly by the fact that many private parties deposited parcels without apprising the officers of their value. There was stolen in coupon and registered bonds a face value of $888,000; of certificates of stocks, $500,000; of bills receivable, $250,000—or, in round numbers, more than $1,600,000. The burglars took away with them on the morning of the robbery $12,000 in bills, which was spent at once. It will be remembered that the securities were hidden at the Bridge Street School House for some three weeks and that the plunder was then taken to New York. Thirty-four thousand dollars of United States coupon bonds was next disposed of. There was also $75,000 in railroad bonds and other negotiable property which as yet the bank has not obtained. It is supposed that this, in the parlance of the thieves, has been "spounted" or put up as pledges, and the depositors and bank officials still expect to get a hold on part of this. Part of this $75,000 has been used up since the arrest of Scott and Dunlap in carrying on their defence and in other expenses. These three items make up the total loss of $12,000, which of course does not include the immense bill of costs the bank will have to pay for prosecuting the burglars. Of this amount the bank takes $10,000 and two of the Directors, W. Hillyer and H. R. Huckley, $42,000 more, so that about one-half of the actual loss falls upon the bank Directors. The balance is divided among the 25 or more depositors, a few losing the whole amount of their savings, but a majority only a part. The local private depositors have generally called at the bank to take a look at their long-lost treasures, and parties out of town have been notified. It is proposed at an early day to send a tabulated statement to each depositor, embodying a full financial history of the case. The bank thus gets back nearly $1,500,000. Those who shook their heads when asked to sell their stock in the bank evidently knew what they were talking about, and have made a handsome profit by holding on to the stock.—Springfield Republican.

A NEW TELEGRAPH MOVEMENT. There are well authenticated reports of a movement to organize a new telegraph company, with a capital of $35,000,000, which will, by a year from May 1, 1881, have completed the best system of telegraph that capital and the present progress in telegraphy can insure. The recent consolidations have thrown a large number of experienced telegraph managers and operators out of business. The experience and skill of these men, it is reported, will be secured for the new company. There is a further report that Mr. Vanderbilt, who has retired from the Board of Directors of the Western Union, will take a prominent part in the new company. The fact that Mr. Barger, who has represented the interests of Mr. Vanderbilt on the board, resigned at the same time, rather confirms the report about Mr. Vanderbilt's design. Mr. Fred L. Ames, of Boston, the last of the American Union Directors, who were to be made Directors of the Western Union whenever a vacancy should occur, takes Mr. Vanderbilt's place.

A plate of thick French plate glass, 8 by 14 inches, inserted into the oven door of that splendid and justly popular cooking range

THE NEW CLAPION.

This improvement is valuable and can best be appreciated by housekeepers. All articles can be seen while in process of baking or roasting, without opening the oven door thereby preventing all odors from escaping and all kinds of pastry and cake from falling, and insuring a perfect success in roasting meats and poultry. The glass is of such best French plate and capable of withstanding intense heat without injury, while no smoke or steam can obstruct the view from the oven. The glass is in a frame which is attached inside of the door and can be removed without danger of breaking. We would call attention to the many and valuable improvements we have added to the Fire at Windsor.

GARDINER, March 29. A fire at Windsor, on Sunday night, destroyed a house and two barns with their contents, consisting of a horse, two cows, six sheep, seven ambs, hay, farming tools, etc., owned by Warren Lynn. Loss twenty-five hundred dollars; insured for five hundred dollars.

Will of the Late John C. Brooks.

BOSTON, March 29. The will of John C. Brooks, of Portland, a copy of which is filed here, he owning property in Boston, contains public bequests amounting to $6000, including the Maine Missionary Society, $500; Bangor Theological Seminary, $1000; Widows' Wood Society of Portland, $500; Association for the Relief of Aged and Indigent Women in Portland, $500. After the payment of all bequests the res due of the property is to be given to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

Church Matters.

PORTLAND, March 29. Rev. C. J. Clark, pastor of the Chestnut Street Methodist church has resigned his position to take place in April, and the official board of the church extended an invitation to Rev. Andrew McKown D. D., of Boston, to become pastor and he has accepted, subject to the approval of Bishop Peck.

Liverpool Steamer.

The steamship Brooklyn, from Liverpool, arrived shortly after midnight.

The State Fair.

LEWISTON, March 29. The Trustees of the State Agricultural Society are in session in this city to make arrangements for the State Fair, which is to be held September 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th. The Androscoggin County Society will hold their fair in connection with the State Fair.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

Special Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 29.

After the reading of the journal the resolutions were called up for the election of officers of the Senate.

Mr. Johnson stated that he had intended to reply to the speech of his colleague but as it did not appear in the Record this morning and as he did not wish to misrepresent his colleague, he would postpone reply until he could read that speech.

Mr. Hampton denied the statement made yesterday by Mr. Mahone that the Democratic party had repudiated the debt of South Carolina, asserting that if there had been repudiation it had been when the state was under the control of the party with which the gentleman was acting. He then recited the action of the Democrats in this special session, their attempt to fulfil their duty in reorganizing the committees, and argued against the right of the Vice President to vote upon the election of officers.

He then said that the Democrats opposed the proposed action of the Republican members because it would break an established precedent and establish a bad one; because the Senate had been called here for executive business, and above all grave suspicions had taken hold of the public mind that this action was the result of an unnatural coalition and corrupt bargain.

The Senator from Virginia (Mahone) disclaimed that he had been moved by any impure consideration. He would say to him in all frankness that he would strengthen his position before the country if he would show what considerations had moved him. The suspicion might be groundless, but it was due to the reputation of this body that it should be proved unfounded.

Let the Republicans organize a committee with full power to ascertain the truth or falsity of the rumors spreading throughout the country. For that reason he did not wish to see any immediate action taken on the resolution. He referred to the magnanimous action of the Democratic majority in the last Congress in permitting the Senator from Louisiana (Kellogg) to retain his seat in this body.

The discussion lasted until six o'clock, when without action on the resolution, the Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON.

Attorney-General McVeagh.

WASHINGTON, March 29. Attorney-General McVeagh was this morning attending to business as usual. When the current report was mentioned he said he did not anticipate leaving the Cabinet. He declined to talk when asked as to past differences of opinion as to the wisdom of Chandler's appointment, and intimated that whatever objection he might have had to any of the President's appointments, such objection was not sufficiently strong to warrant his retirement from the Department of Justice.

Cabinet Matters—The Disaffection of Messrs. McVeagh and James Considered.

The causes leading to the disaffection of Messrs. McVeagh and James were briefly considered it is said in to-day's Cabinet. The President will make a firm stand in defence of the nominations of Messrs. Chandler and Robertson. There is good authority for the statement that Atty. Gen. McVeagh opposed Mr. Chandler's selection but yielded so far as to postpone any intention of resigning until it was seen whether the Senate would confirm, or reject his nomination. If Mr. Chandler should be confirmed Atty. Gen. McVeagh's resignation is among the possibilities, although his friends will endeavor to dissuade him from taking such a step. Postmaster General James declines to talk about his attitude in the reported disagreement. It is not believed he will tender his resignation.

Letters of Introduction.

Secretary Blaine has decided not to give letters of introduction to Americans going abroad, other than to officers of the Government, traveling on official business. It has been found that indiscriminate letters of introduction are subject to abuse.

NEW YORK.

Sundry Items.

NEW YORK, March 29. The Aldermen passed resolutions to-day requesting the commissioners of the several departments of the city government to increase the wages of mechanics and laborers in their employ to a standard to conform to the wages of services rendered by employes in the leading branches of business in this city.

Articles for the Astley belt contest have been signed and the race will take place in England. Rowell and Weston met here this morning and signed the articles.

MORE SNOW

In Western States.

CINCINNATI, March 29. A snow storm throughout Indiana and Ohio has been general, accompanied in many places by a strong wind. Here the wind began last night and a heavy rain came this morning changing to sleet and then to snow, which at 11 P. M. is still falling. On the hill tops it lies to a depth of four inches. At Kenton, Ohio, it is twenty inches deep and at Wilmington and Millersburg sixteen.

MICHIGAN.

A Strange Case.

BATTLE CREEK, March 29. Last October Mrs. Henry Ingram had some teeth pulled. This brought on nausea at the stomach and inability to retain food. The woman is still alive having eaten and drank nothing since October. She is nourished by being bathed in beef tea, milk, etc., which acts by absorption, the quantity absorbed being nearly a quart per day from these baths. A bath of water will quench her thirst. The stomach is said to be totally paralyzed.

A HEAVY GALE

Coming this Way.

WASHINGTON, March 30—1 A. M. The Chief Signal Officer furnishes the following: The storm yesterday in Kentucky has moved slowly eastward to North Carolina, where it is now central, attended by thunder storms. The storm in North Carolina will probably move northeastward, occasioning severe northeasterly gales from Maine to North Carolina, and be followed by strong westerly gales along the Atlantic coast during Wednesday night and Thursday. Snow will fall from Ohio valley northeastward to New England. The clear weather now prevailing in the entire Mississippi valley will extend eastward, reaching the Atlantic States Wednesday and Thursday with decidedly lower temperature.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Brief Notes.

LONDON, March 29. Lord Beaconsfield had a severe attack of bronchial asthma but he's gout having fully developed yesterday the asthma was relieved.

A bulletin issued this morning says that Beaconsfield passed a restless night, partly because of the pain of the gout. His doctor says that an unusually severe cough prevented the patient from obtaining the rest necessary to overcome his weakness by long confinement. He does not conceal the fact that there is considerable danger, especially when his great age is considered.

If Bradlaugh's appeal to-morrow results in a decision adverse to him, a new writ for an election in Northampton will be issued immediately, it not being necessary to await a final appeal to the House of Lords. Under these circumstances Bradlaugh will offer himself for re-election and the contest, if any, will take place during the Easter recess of Parliament.

Admiral C. G. Patey, who was entrusted with delicate transactions regarding the Trent affair and the detention of belligerent confederate vessels at Southampton, is dead. A false report of the death of Beaconsfield was circulated in this city to-day. His condition was unchanged at 3 this afternoon.

ATHENS, March 29. The Minister of War has signed an order for four regiments and a company of the Ambulance corps to proceed to Chalcis. All the members of the Chamber of Deputies who are army officers numbering 40, have been ordered to join their regiments.

The Disaster at Nice.

LONDON, March 29. A very incomplete list of the persons who perished at the Nice fire has at last been published. Among the names are those of the German savant, Dr. Arendt Schelling, and Mme McQuay, the latter said to be English. Had the fire broken out half an hour later the list of foreign victims would have been terribly swollen. The theatre was insured for only about $66,000.

Nice is in mourning. All the theatres are closed. The papers appear with black borders. The whole population of the town turned out on Friday to attend the funeral of the victims. The spectacle was solemn and affecting in the extreme. Mayor Barrighone made a speech at the cemetery, thanking the troops and the firemen for the gallantry they displayed at the fire, and earnestly appealing for subscriptions to the relief fund which has been opened.

Several more bodies have been found in the ruins. The victims will number over 100. Seven sailors and many foreigners are missing; so far, however, no American names have been returned. Much surprise has been expressed at the rapidity with which the flames gained ground, but most of the stage fittings are as is usually the case in Italy, were of very light wood, and the scenery was painted on paper, not canvass.

The features of some of the dead are so charred and burned that identification is out of the question, and the mourners have not even the sad consolation of paying the last tribute of respect to those whom they loved when living.

LONDON, March 29—Midnight. The latest bulletin announces that Beaconsfield passed an undisturbed evening and is better.

The garrison of Patchefstroom finally surrendered because of the failure of provisions. Total loss of troops, 18 killed and 90 wounded during the entire siege.

BERLIN, March 29. The page of the Czar, charged with having secretly served the Nihilist has been arrested at St. Petersburg.

VIENNA, March 29. The Austro Hungarian delegates to the International Monetary Conference, at Paris have been appointed. The delegates have been instructed not to enter into any binding obligations.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The dead body of James Hart was found on the railroad track at Little Rock horribly mangled by the cars. The fact developed that he was murdered and the body placed on the track to avert suspicion. A man has been arrested charged with complicity in the crime.

A St. Louis despatch says: The Democratic city convention last night nominated Henry O'Verstalz for Mayor and a full city ticket.

A large proportion of children who die early are those whose brain development is unusually large in comparison with the body. Why is this? Simply because the functions of the body are too frail to supply the waste going on in the brain consequent upon active intelligence. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is so prepared that it imparts the vital principle directly to the brain, while it assists in developing a vigorous and robust body.

We are informed that Capt. Ellingwood, well known to many of our citizens, formerly of Winterport and of late years living in Greenbush, died at the latter place recently, aged about seventy-five.

A Burlington correspondent writes: "The Burlington and Lowell Band have reorganized with fifteen members, and are doing well for a new band.—Mr. Learned is canvassing the town for the County history.

A lively set-to between two hot headed citizens, on Kenduskeag Bridge, yesterday afternoon, was interrupted by Officer Weymouth, who escorted the principal to the station, where his passion will be allowed to cool.

The question of establishing manufactures in this city is one in which our citizens generally feel interested. It is reported that one of our largest real estate owners is ready to take $25,000 worth of stock in either a woolen or cotton mill.

"Casting bread upon the waters" has received a different version by one of our bakers, who yesterday illustrated his idea of it by scattering the contents of his wagon in the street. In other words, a baker's cart capsized on Exchange street.

We would again remind our readers that Mr. Andrews' juvenile party will occur in Music Hall this afternoon at three o'clock. The floor will be reserved for the pupils and their parents, but the gallery will be open to the public. Tickets can be secured at the door for twenty-five cents.

The next quarterly session of the Kenebec County Reform Club will be held at Augusta, April 8th and 7th. Business meeting Wednesday, April 6th, at 2 P. M. Fares will be reduced from Clinton, Fishon's Ferry, Waterville, Winslow, Vassalboro', Riverside and South Gardiner. All members of Reform Clubs are invited to attend.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Handel Association, giving the names of the singers who are to give solo parts in the beautiful Cantata, Belshazzar. This work has been under constant rehearsal for the past winter and its public rendition is eagerly looked forward to by our music-loving citizens.

Yesterday afternoon, in Pickering square, an overgrown, loud-mouthed lounger, whose abusive tongue had been lubricated by Satan's Elixir, was regaling a crowd of "moody beggars, starving for a time of pell-mell havock and confusion," with the choicest billingsgate, when he was suddenly and most effectually Mahoned by a fiery little chap who had grown restive under the vile tirade. No arrests.

NICHOLS' GIFT CONCERT AND BALL. As advertised, the gift concert and ball took place in Music Hall last night. The galleries were filled and several rows of seats were ranged on the floor of the hall. The music furnished by Andrews' orchestra is spoken of in terms of praise and appeared to be fully appreciated. The concert was followed by an order of dances, twelve in number. The affair passed off very pleasantly and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The gifts are advertised to be distributed to-day.

A LEARNED PRINTER IN DISTRESS. Fred E. Booth writes from Hartford to the New York Sun: Colonel W. A. Calloway, a printer in this city, is probably the most learned printer in the United States, and the only printer living who has set up the Bible in the original Greek. He has worked in London, Oxford, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Florence, Crete, and elsewhere. He served in the Mexican war and five years during the rebellion. He saved President Lincoln from capture by the rebels when they attacked the James Brooks, and has several letters from Lincoln thanking him for his bravery, etc., in saving him from capture. Colonel Calloway has suffered much from hunger in endeavoring to support his family, his parents being very aged people—his father 102 years, and his mother nearly 100. It seems to me that the fraternity ought to know these things.

The first lecture in the Brower Methodist Course was delivered Monday evening by Rev. George Forsyth, Principal of the East Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport. The subject was "How to be Happy," and from the beginning to the close of the lecture the speaker held the audience as if spell-bound. All were delighted and instructed, and it was a treat such as the people but seldom enjoy.

SHALL OUR STREETS BE SPRINKLED?—"Why don't they sprinkle the streets!" is the wail that goes up from the dust-blinded pedestrians. Many seem to think that it is the fault of the city, or owing to the negligence of the Street Commissioner, that our streets are not sprinkled. It is neither. It is a matter that depends upon the subscription of private individuals. When a citizen feels like complaining of the dust, let him reflect that it is an appeal to his purse. However, in common with our fellow-sufferers, we feel like appealing to some one, and, in the language of Tennyson, exclaim, "thou will not leave us in the dust!"

SOUTH HANCOCK ITEMS.—Mr. Editor:—There is quite an activity in this little flourishing town by the sea, in the way of improvements. If Dame Rumor is correct, we are to have several new cottages early in the season, and there are signs of life and improvement at the Point, even at this early date. We are in connection with the outside world by steamboat, which is quite a luxury, after a long, cold winter blockade. The town has laid out a road, four rods wide, from steamboat wharf on the eastern shore, and extending some two miles or more around the western shore, which will open a very pleasant and much-desired drive.

MORE WORK REQUIRED. The Augusta Journal remarks: It may be well for our numerous embryonic Rufus Choates, to bear in mind that a law was passed by the Maine Legislature to regulate admission to the bar in this State, which provides that no person who has not been a member of the bar in another State, in good standing and in active practice for at least three years, shall be admitted to practice law in this State unless he shall have studied for at least two years in the office of some attorney and in some law school and shall have passed a satisfactory examination. It provides for a public examination of candidates in the presence of a Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court.

This is the way a Lewiston Journal reporter raves about the weather: The north pole has apparently been heard from. The wind blew so hard Sunday night that it roared people awake, and played noisy pranks with window sashes and blinds. Lisbon-st. was a tunnel, Monday, through which a powerful blast galloped down town steadily. Clouds of dirt and small pebbles rode on the gale and knocked people's hats and faces askew. A man in a hurry got all the hurry taken out of him, coming up street against the gale. All the loose ends of male or female regalia were unfurled, and the pedestrian who didn't take the precaution to reef and double-reef, was made into a windmill. Almost everyone called it "a-norful-day," and all out-doors people went through a very effectual tanning process.

Police Court.

A case of a leged false pretence was settled.

Daniel Noonan, drunkenness and disturbance, plead guilty, and sentenced to 30 days; appealed.

Edward R. Hyde, same offence, $5 and costs, paid.

John Donahue, same offence, 30 days in jail; mittimus suspended.

ACCIDENT TO AN E. & N. A. R. CONDUCTOR.

Narrow Escape From a Terrible Death.

Conductor Charles Dean on the E. & N. A. Railway had a very narrow escape from death yesterday, in a manner which may be briefly stated as follows: While the freight train was at Costigan it became necessary to shift some cars which stood on a side track. So near the junction of the tracks were the two trains that to keep one train from crowding against the locomotive of the other a stick of timber was braced between them. The stick broke, a large piece of which struck Conductor Dean on the forehead, knocking him down and causing him to fall beneath the cars that were in motion. With remarkable presence of mind Mr. Dean grasped a drawbar (which connects the cars) and thus saved himself from being crushed by the trucks. As it was, he was dragged some distance, his body striking the sleepers as the train moved along. He was finally rescued from his perilous position. Though considerably bruised, it is thought he will be out again in a few days. Conductor Dean, who is quite a popular young man, is a son of Capt. James Dean.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Banker's Daughter.

A splendid tribute to the creative genius of Bronson Howard was paid by the immense audiences that assembled at old Norombega last evening to witness a masterly presentation of the author's greatest work—one of the most tenderly touching plays that has been put upon the American stage—"The Banker's Daughter." The play is one that will live, for it tells a tale familiar to us all, yet in a style new and novel—the old, old story, yet ever new—an exemplification of the adage that "true love seldom runs smooth," yet in such a feeling, pleasing, fascinating way as not only to enlist one's heartiest sympathies, but to cause one to feel that it is not a play—not a reflex—but an exciting reality. The language is as near perfection as can be well imagined, the dialogue bright and sparkling, and the vein of sentiment as pure as the love of a true woman. It is a romantic drama of the age in which we live, and reflects the shadows that too often fall across the pathways of those who dwell in gilded homes and whose lives are generally supposed to be from care and sorrow. The wickedness and folly of marriages of convenience is exposed. The daughter of a banker, who is deeply in love with a young and promising artist, marries a man many years her senior whose wealth would save her father from bankruptcy and ruin. The father deceived his daughter's suitor in causing him to believe that she gives with her hand an untrammelled heart. The daughter is deceived in the belief that her husband had been made acquainted with the fact that her hand alone was free—that her heart was another's. Some seven years later she meets the man who had been originally enshrined in her love; her heart yearns for him still, but honor forbids.

A Parisian Count of the modern regime, a practical swordsman and bully, whose proposals had been rejected by the banker's daughter—now John Strebelow's wife—is still smarting under the recollection of taunts that had been received in consequence meets her early lover in Paris, and by studied insults, and by slinging rejections upon the lady's honor, forces him into a duel, which results in the death of the latter. In this scene we have a noble touch of nature. Strebelow arrives on the ground to find his wife bending over the body of her lover, in a state bordering upon despair, but the noble heart of the husband, breaking with the discovery that his wife loves another, is yet filled with pity, and wrapping his cloak about her as if to shield her from calumny, gently bears her away. In the subsequent scene where the husband and wife meet alone, the interest and sympathy of the audience becomes intensified, as the wife says to her husband that in honor and duty he cannot reproach her, when he exclaims "What care I for honor and duty! Duty! Honor! Who spoke of duty or honor? I spoke and speak of love—of that love which in a wife is the sole invulnerable armor of a husband's honor—of that love without which honor is valueless and life a blank. God help the husband whose honor is protected by duty alone."

Throughout, the play is one of absorbing interest, and gradually increases in intensity until the denouement where the husband and wife after seven years' separation are reunited. Too much praise can scarcely be bestowed upon the members of the cast, individually or as a whole. The parts were all excellently taken, yet perhaps for fine acting the "John Strebelow" of Mr. F. C. Bangs and the "Count de Carojan" of Signor Majeroni will live longest in the memory of those who witnessed the play. Two of the scenes which seem to call for special commendation were brought by the company—the scene at the Embassy, and the scene where the duel occurred—the ruins of a chateau near Paris in the snow and moonlight, with the city in the distance. The beauties of the latter were developed by the aid of a powerful calcium light.

Collier's Combination are sure of a welcome should they again visit our city.

Municipal Honor in Danger.

"Reports from Maine," says the Boston Commercial Bulletin, "in the matter of town and city bonds are not very reassuring. The Knox & Lincoln Railroad, a line 49 miles long, running, it will be remembered, from Bath to Rockland, is giving all the towns through which it runs a good deal of difficulty. Wiscasset has already succumbed, and by her action has affected the credit of municipal bonds throughout the State.

The city and town bonds issued on account of the road, the interest on which at six per cent. is paid by the same, and which are secured by mortgage, amount to $2,759,590, and of this sum $755,000 are held by the city of Rockland. Four per cent. of the interest on this amount is raised by taxation, and the people are becoming uneasy under the burden, and we are reliably informed that the feeling is strongly in favor of refunding and that certain prominent citizens are actually in favor of summarily disposing of their burden by open repudiation.

We do not believe that the city of Rockland is prepared to thus break its word and repudiate its faith. If it does it will be a blow to municipalities throughout the State, which are entirely innocent of the slightest wrong doing. It would be wise for Rockland to rise to her opportunity and refuse to allow herself to reduce the standard integrity in Maine, and lower herself so as to be counted in with the mushroom municipalities of some of the Western states."

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past.

"I write this hoping every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will take DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicine I have taken since my sickness. dlt&w no3, mar13

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! AN HONEST PREPARATION.

The world is so crammed with swindles that a really honest man or honest thing is almost as scarce as robins in January. Yet Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., formerly captain of the Troy police, says Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is "an honest preparation." And the captain ought to know for the medicine cured him of Liver Complaint. It is mean enough to cheat a well man, but to cheat the sick and the suffering deserves a short shift and a long rope. Whatever sins Dr. Kennedy may be guilty of, misrepresentation of his medicine is not among them. Try it for One Dollar, or write to the Doctor at Rondout, N. Y. d&w2w mar18

WHAT IS BEHIND IT?

No amount of money can stand in the stead of a good name. It is a blunder everywhere and every time to suppose the loss of character can be paid for. Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., proprietor of the great medicine called "Favorite Remedy," would have but little confidence to recommend the public to buy and use it if his own good name were not behind it. But the fact that he has staked his reputation upon it ought to be, and is, better than a thousand cheap certificates—in the opinion of the people. The Doctor is a regular physician-surgeon, and despises a humbug as heartily as any man. If you are sick with any complaint of the Blood, Kidneys or Liver, invest One Dollar in the "Favorite Remedy," and it will speak for itself. d&w 2w mar18

NEURALGIA.

It has been ascertained that the most inveterate cases of neuralgia are cured by Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. Not only is the principal disease eradicated, but the patient is made vigorous and strong the stomach, the blood, the skin become healthy, and he obtains a new lease of an joyable life.

The only satisfactory treatment of neuralgia is by strengthening the nervous system. A person with strong nerves never suffers from this disease.

The virtues of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites are such that other remedies are seldom required.

The demand for Hypophosphite and other Phosphorus preparations at the present day, is lately owing to the good effects and success following the introduction of this article in the United States.

IMPORTANT.

Should the invalid have any difficulty in procuring the Compound Syrup in his vicinity, let him not be put off with any other remedy, because this article has not its equal in the diseases for which it is recommended.

NOTE.—Be suspicious of persons who recommend any other article as "just as good" The Richest class medical men in every large city, where it is known, recommend it.
